Dear Mayor Jordan,

I am writing to you on behalf of Indivisible Greenbelt, a group of recently organized, local activists. You can find our discussion board on Facebook for more information on the group.

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/1106680526107016/>

I am writing to let you know that we will be attending the City Council meeting this evening to ask Greenbelt to support the Paris Climate Accords, as a number of cities, states, universities, and others around the country have done in the past four days.

For more information on this movement or if you would like to sign on, you can visit www.climate-mayors.org or e-mail infor@climate-mayors.org.

To find a statement of purpose and a list of signatory cities, find it here:

<https://medium.com/@ClimateMayors/climate-mayors-commit-to-adopt-honor-and-uphold-paris-climate-agreement-goals-ba566e260097>

Other local cities have signed on, including Hyattsville and Takoma Park.

This action would be in-line with previous commitments made by the City of Greenbelt, including: Sierra Club, Mayors for 100% Clean Energy (2017)

<http://www.sierraclub.org/ready-for-100/mayors-for-clean-energy>

Compact of Mayors (2016)

<https://www.compactofmayors.org/>

<https://www.compactofmayors.org/cities/greenbelt-md/>

Additionally, the City Council previously expressed its support for the Paris Accords in a 2015 letter to the Obama Administration (please see attached).

We hope not to take very much time in the petitions section of the meeting tonight and ask if you would consider signing on immediately at the meeting given the city's established stance on the Paris Accords.

With kind regards,
Katy Collin

Mayors For 100% ^{Menu >} Clean Energy

Local leadership on clean energy is more important than ever.

As we face unprecedented threats to vital climate, environmental, and pollution protections, mayors and local leaders are seizing the moment to lead our nation towards a healthier, stronger future by committing to 100% clean, renewable energy for all. Mayors understand first-hand the threats to security and public health that families are facing across the country. We are asking mayors to respond to this moment by signaling their support for clean energy and healthy communities. Transitioning to 100% clean and renewable energy -- like energy efficiency, wind, solar and electrified transportation -- will protect our kids and families from pollution, create new jobs and local economic opportunities, and ensure that all people have access to affordable energy solutions.

That's why with our Co-Chairs the Sierra Club's Ready For 100 Campaign is launching Mayors For 100% Clean Energy -- an initiative calling on all mayors -- regardless of political party, from big cities and small towns -- to support a vision of 100% clean and renewable energy in their cities, towns, and communities, and across the country. Mayors have a powerful role in making 100% a reality, and a powerful voice to help us spread the message.

Whether you're a mayor, activist, or partner, you can take action now!

to energy, health, and more reasons; it will create jobs and new business opportunities; and it will allow us to become a more equitable society where everyone has opportunity in a thriving local economy.

Nearly 200 nations have agreed, for the first time in history, that the world must achieve 100 percent renewable energy by the end of this century. In the United States, action by local government is already reducing emissions, creating jobs, strengthening the economy, and improve lives.

Positive, bipartisan, community-driven solutions are possible and already happening in our community. I will continue to work with all stakeholders to transition away from dirty energy and implement local, affordable solutions like energy efficiency, solar, wind, and pollution-free electric transportation.
